

Bringing in More Splendid New Things to Save on in the Mill End Sale

The Food Administration Says

If every family in the United States had just one wheatless meal each week—just one a week—the total saving of wheat in a year would be 99,000,000 bushels. The food administration has asked everybody to save two wheatless days a week and one wheatless meal EVERY day. This is easy for each individual, but imagine what the total saving in wheat will be!

WAR TEXT BOOK TO BE USED IN THE SCHOOLS

PUBLISHED BY BOARD OF EDUCATION.

DEDICATED TO GOVERNOR

The "Indiana War Service Text Book for High Schools" to be used as a vehicle for bringing the war home to the younger citizens of the state, is being printed in Indianapolis and will be distributed to public instruction, received the first copy yesterday. At a meeting of the state board of education today at the statehouse, the fixing of the time for study of the new book in the high schools of the state, the amounts of credit that will be given therefor, and other matters in connection with the use of the book in the schools were discussed. The work is an outgrowth of a plan for such text book started by various patriotic organizations and backed by the state council of defense. The state board of education edited and published the work. It is copyrighted by the state council. The book is dedicated to Governor Goodrich, "who swiftly and successfully mobilized for the prosecution of the war all the state's resources and placed them unreservedly at the disposal of the federal government." A prayer by the Rev. John C. Cavanaugh, offered before the recent Indiana war conference in Indianapolis, appears at the front of the text book.

List of Contents.
Then follow, in the order named, the following: The April 2, 1917, address of President Woodrow Wilson, before the congress of the United States, an address by Governor Goodrich to the soldiers at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, May 17, 1917; an address by former Governor Samuel M. Ralston, delivered before the state council of defense, "Our Council of Defense," by George Ade; "A Patriotic Appeal," by Ellis L. Craft, superintendent of the Indianapolis schools; "Our Flag," by Walter S. Greenough; "Food Production," by G. I. Christie, state food director; "Fighting With Dollars," by Frank E. Herberling, president of the switchmen's union, today told the railway wage commission. He said it was because the Adamson law placed no penalty on overtime. "The only hours-of-work law which

SAYS EIGHT-HOUR DAY LAW IS NOT OBSERVED

HEAD OF SWITCHMEN ACCUSES THE RAILROADS.

OVERWORK CAUSES HAZARDS

WASHINGTON, February 8.—The eight-hour day for railroad workers is not being observed generally, S. E. Herberling, president of the switchmen's union, today told the railway wage commission. He said it was because the Adamson law placed no penalty on overtime. "The only hours-of-work law which is observed," he said, "is the sixteen-hour law, violation of which is punishable without indictment." Statements that the eight-hour law was being disregarded by the railroads in an effort to discredit its operation by increasing greatly the overtime paid to employees were made at a previous hearing by representatives of the conductors and trainmen. Mr. Herberling said overwork was responsible for the extreme hazards of the switchmen's occupation, exhaustion causing so many accidents that the union's insurance rates are very high. "This, gentlemen, is the reason why we ask a penalty on overtime," Mr. Herberling said very earnestly.

International Custom Cutters' Association of America recommends that sack coats be cut a trifle longer, have high shoulders without padding or stiffening, with a decided side flap. Frock coats will fit about the shoulders the same as the sack coat and will have a high waist line. To conserve cloth, overcoats for the coming season will fit more closely. Patch pockets, belts and turned up trousers will not be worn this season. Officers elected are: President, Charles Levy, Toronto, Ontario; first vice-president, Gus Bren, Kansas City; second vice-president, Chris E. Krieger, Cincinnati; secretary, L. A. Danner, Springfield, Ill.; treasurer, C. S. McKee, Columbus, O. Next year's convention city will be selected by the executive committee.

Indiana Soldier Tells of Visit to a French Hermit

(Special to The Indianapolis News.) EVANSVILLE, Ind., February 8.—Mike Fasciano, of this city, who is with the Pershing forces in France, has written an interesting letter of a meeting with a hermit while he and two other soldiers were on a rabbit hunt behind the lines. The letter, which came to his brother Frank Fasciano, living at 38 South Fourth street, follows: "It is on Monday evening that I am writing this letter and this afternoon I was off duty. Two other fellows and myself took a long walk in the woods. We went rabbit hunting, but not with guns, with clubs, but we did not see one, although we did see their tracks. Well, we gave up hunting for Mr. Rabbit and went to a cave. Well, I can tell you how old it is, but some old hermit lives in it and when we knocked at his door he said in French: 'Who's there?' We answered, 'Americans.' When he said in French, 'Go away,' we answered 'Americans.' Then the hermit answered, 'Yes, yes, and opened the door. It was made of tin and wire. We went in and you should have seen how dirty the cave was and the hermit, too. I should say he had not been washed for a number of months. We gave him some cigars and cigarettes and it sure did tickle him. We talked with him about an hour. He was talking in French and we responded in French with what little we knew. You should have seen his bed, made out of tin cans and bags and had as a rock. It was getting dark when we left him, past 8 o'clock. We made him a 'good day' and he responded the same in French. From the cave we went hunting again, but not after rabbits—after mistletoe for Christmas. All three of us got an armful and went back to camp where we told all the rookies about our experience. They wished they had all gone along. We are going to see the hermit again and take him a few things he is in need of."
